MEDICAL HUB

At Fox Advertising, our in-house Medical Department represents a key differentiator in the healthcare communication landscape. Comprising highly qualified professionals who combines scientific expertise with strategic understanding of the pharmaceutical market. They are responsible for conducting in-depth medical research, data analysis, and content validation to ensure scientific integrity across all deliverables. In addition, our medical specialists maintain direct communication with clients in Egypt and across international markets—particularly in KSA—to fully understand their objectives, gather accurate briefs, and translate complex medical information into clear, compliant, and effective communication strategies.

SALES TEAM

Our Sales Team is dedicated to creating lasting partnerships built on trust and understanding. We don't just aim to sell — we strive to provide real value by understanding our clients' needs and delivering effective, tailored solutions. With a focus on transparency and long-term collaboration, our goal is to earn not only business success, but enduring trust.

PRODUCTION

Our Production Department turns creative ideas into flawless executions. With expertise in printing, fabrication, events, and exhibition production, the team delivers high-quality results across every project. Equipped with advanced printing presses, we produce all materials — from block notes and roll-ups to giveaways and corporate prints. From booth design to medical congresses and brand activations, we ensure premium quality, seamless coordination, and on-time delivery across Egypt and regional markets.

Because at Fox Advertising, we believe that quality in a product or service is not what we put in — it's what our clients get out.
